

I am an XM Radio user and I also am an Over the Road truck driver. My XM Radio is the best thing to happen for travelers since the stations don't fade in and out and you aren't constantly turning your attention away from your driving to find new stations after losing the one you are on. The weather and traffic channels are very important to the traveler since he can find out what is ahead long in advance of arriving to a city. This allows the driver to make changes in the route he takes well in advance. With standard radio the driver may be well beyond a different route when he finds out about the problems ahead and become a part of the problem.

Please allow XM Radio to keep the weather and traffic channels.
